2.1.1 OVERALL SYNTHETIC CURVE AND COMMENT

CHART 1 OVERALL SYNTHETIC CURVE
(manufacturing industry, building industry, business-related services and trade)

Business confidence remains virtually stable in July

- The business barometer is still at the all-time high reached last month.
- This stability nevertheless conceals contrasting trends between branches of activity.
- The business climate is improving in the manufacturing industry and even more strongly in the trade sector. In contrast, confidence among company managers has dropped back in business-related services and most notably in the building industry.

For the third consecutive month, the upturn is gaining ground in the trade sector under the impetus, this month, of a clear recovery in demand forecasts and those for orders placed with suppliers. Projections for employment, which had risen sharply last month, have been revised downwards a little.

The improvement in confidence recorded in the manufacturing industry is almost exclusively based on a much more favourable appraisal of stock levels, given the summer season.

In the building industry, all the indicators are pointing downwards. Business leaders in the sector expressed more reservations about the current level of their total order books and the expected trend in demand. Recent movements in order books and equipment used are down too, albeit to a lesser extent.

In the business-related services sector, the big drop in forecasts for activity have been almost fully offset by a brighter view from entrepreneurs of their current level of activity.

The overall smoothed synthetic curve, which reflects the underlying cyclical trend, is continuing its ascent.

Lastly, the results of the quarterly survey of production capacity in the manufacturing industry point to a further increase in the production capacity utilisation rate compared to the previous quarter. The seasonally adjusted rate thus rose from 79.6 % in April to 81.1 % in July.

CHART 7 CONSUMER CONFIDENCE INDICATOR

Consumer confidence stabilises in July

- The consumer confidence indicator remained steady at the high level reached in the previous month.
- Consumers are again a bit more confident about the outlook for the jobs market. Conversely, they are slightly less optimistic about their future financial situation.

The macroeconomic outlook for the next twelve months remains unchanged compared to June, and households still regard it as particularly good. What is more, they have again proved to be more optimistic about the future of the jobs market. Their concerns about rising unemployment over the coming twelve months are thus gradually subsiding to a level close to that seen before the start of the health crisis.

Conversely, consumers expect their financial situation to deteriorate somewhat over the coming twelve months, while their intentions in regard to savings are much the same as they were last month.

N.B.: Due to a methodological break in the labor force survey conducted among Belgian households (LFS) from the first quarter of 2017, Eurostat can no longer provide monthly data of the harmonized unemployment rate. Pending a solution, the quarterly averages replace these monthly data.

¹ Annual or quarterly data: average of end-of-month data; monthly data: end-of-month data.

² The suppression of the unemployment control at the end of 2005 makes difficult the comparison of the series before and after 2006.

The remaining 92 % of the value of the euro banknotes in circulation are allocated to the NCBs on a monthly basis too, whereby each NCB shows in its balance sheet a share of the euro banknotes issued corresponding to its paid-up share in the ECB's capital (Capital Share Mechanism or CSM).³ The difference between the value of the euro banknotes allocated to the NCB according to the aforementioned accounting regime, and the value of euro banknotes put into circulation, is also disclosed as an "Intra-Eurosystem claim/liability related to banknote issue".³ From 2001 onwards: Split of the old serie "Other claims" into two series "Other liabilities" and "Other liabilities to euro area credit institutions, denominated in euro".

N.B.: From January 2002 onwards, the Belgian contribution to the monetary aggregates of the eurozone excludes currency in circulation.

From June 2010, the Repurchase agreements, and consequently M3, exclude the Repurchase agreements with Central counterparties (CCPs). Hence, reclassifications that have an impact on the list of Central counterparties (CCPs), might cause breaks in the time series.

N.B.: According to a survey conducted among credit institutions, insurance companies and mortgage companies.

The data indicate a trend and do not reflect all applications for mortgage credit or the outstanding amount of these loans. From 1995 onwards the concept of "mortgage credit" refers to the Law of 4th August 1992 concerning mortgage credit, and excludes all mortgage credit contracted for commercial purposes.

General remarks

In the various tables, the totals shown can differ from the sum of the items as a result of roundings.

The publication schedule for the most important economic statistics compiled by the Bank and the NAI is given on the Bank's website.

In order to meet the obligations imposed by the SDDS (the IMF's Special Data Dissemination Standard), this schedule also covers all the statistics included in the SDDS. Publication date are those given by the institution responsible for compiling the statistics; some of these institutions publish via their own media more detailed schedules for statistics than those given on the Bank's website.
